

WEATHER for Kentucky
Thursday Cooler

HOPKINSVILLE KENTUCKY, THURSDAY, MAY 31, 1917.

VOL. 39—No 65

EDITORIAL COMMENT.

W. H. Phillips has been judge of Jessamine county for 39 years.

Look over the list of candidates in the Kentuckian and pick out the best men.

John D. Rockefeller has taken another block of bonds, making $15,000,000 in all.

The Italians are in two miles of Duino and too busy to answer the question in the name.

Gen. Jack Pershing, who will lead the advance on Berlin, is the son of a Missouri farmer.

Fourteen Kentucky doctors are running for the Legislature. They are needed more in the army.

Haberdashers have decreed that the biled shirt is to be done away with in order that the starch may be used for food.

Chas. X. Zimmerman, the new brigadier general of the Third Ohio Brigade, enlisted as a private in the Ohio State Guards in 1879 and has worked his way up step by step.

A Socialist presided over the House Monday for the first time in history when, during calling of a roll on a point of no quorum, Speaker Clark called Representative London, of New York, to the chair.

Mrs. Katherine Ward, of Grand Rapids, in return for kindness shown her by Miss Rose Sahampanier, of Boston, has left her $38,000 upon condition that the young lady not marry for three years. She has a lover who says they will wait.

The Senate committee has reduced the war taxes in the bill passed by the House from $1,800,000,000 to $1,500,000,000. Heavy taxes on confectionery and soft drinks are still in the amended bill.

Robert C. Saufley, a cousin of R. Caswell Saufley, the young Lieutenant of the naval aviation corps killed at Pensacola last year by a fall, has joined the same arm of the service. The boys were the same age and had the same initials, coming from a prominent Richmond, Ky., family.

Young man, next Tuesday is one day that you cannot afford to be too busy to register. Your principal business will be to get yourself enrolled for military service. If you forget it, you are liable to be sent to jail. If you live elsewhere, you can get a card from the county clerk and mail it home. It must be there June 5 or you are in trouble.

Warnings for the people of England to look for greater and more disastrous air raids have been sounded by the press. It is believed that Germany has resolved upon another big effort to spread terror in England, using both airships and submarines. Reprisal attacks have been made by allied airmen against Zeppelins, Heyst and Blankenberg.

A Colored Patriot.

The Attacks High School, of this city, is named in honor of Crispus Attacks, a negro man who was killed in 1770, in the first fight leading up to the Revolutionary War.

One, In Twenty.

About 10,000,000 men will register. The ultimate army may be 2,000,000. The early draft will be 500,000. Those who register next week will, in the proportion of one to twenty, receive an early call for enrollment. In the circumstances the man who is uncertain whether he should continue to discharge his civil duties or seek military duties need not regard himself as one who will be called. He can afford to let the selection proceed. His selection for enrollment will mean honor and not dishonor. Does anyone look down upon the French army because it is a drafted army? Does not everyone look up to it because it is a well-drilled and intensely patriotic army?—Courier-Journal.

STORM'S TOLL
NOW 160 DEAD

With Hundreds Injured In Four Different States of Mississippi Valley.

4 KENTUCKY COUNTIES

Fulton Suffers Terribly With Long List of Dead and Injured.

Memphis, Tenn., May 30.—Revised reports from the sections of Kentucky, Tennessee, Arkansas and Alabama, swept by a series of tornadoes Sunday, place the number known to have lost their lives in the storm at 160 and the injured at approximately 550.

Southwestern Kentucky, reports so far received indicate, paid the heaviest toll in lives lost. Four counties were hit, Fulton, Hickman, Carlisle and Ballard. In Fulton the southwestern tip of that State, 66 persons were killed and more than 100 injured. In Alabama the mining camps at Sayre, Bradford and Carbon Hill reported 46 fatalities and in Tennessee, Tipton, Dyer and Carroll counties reported 34 dead.

$1,000,000 ALABAMA DAMAGE.

The property damage in Alabama is estimated at about $1,000,000. No accurate estimate of the money loss in the other states is available, wire communication still being badly crippled, and but little effort has been made to appraise the damage wrought.

Of the known dead in Alabama, where the storm struck, widely separated towns, the area extending from Huntsville to Tuscaloosa, the majority lost their lives in small mining settlements about Birmingham.

In Mississippi county, Arkansas, across the Mississippi river from the Tennessee and Kentucky counties swept by the storm ten were killed.

Dyer county suffered the largest loss of life in Tennessee. Near Dyersburg seven were killed and 40 injured. Other Tennessee towns reporting casualties were Gates, Lake, Tresvant, Ore Springs, Sharon, Linden and Bakerstown.

INTERMENT WEDNESDAY.

Funeral services of the late Mrs. Polk Cansler were held at the Methodist church yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock, conducted by Rev. Lewis Powell, and the interment took place in Riverside Cemetery. Mrs. Maud Koenig, of Chicago, and Charles Cansler, of Enid, Oklahoma, children of the deceased, arrived in time to attend the funeral.

HOARDINGS
OF LIFETIME

Found in House of Woman Who Died Last Fall.

Owensboro, Ky.—The hoardings of a lifetime were found at the home of Mrs. Theresa Head, deceased, on her farm at the Yelvington neighborhood. Mrs. Head died last fall, at the age of 75 years old, and a week later her nephew, Cecilius Head, who lived with her, died. The estate went into the hands of an administrator. A fair estimate was found, but no one suspected hidden treasures. While making an investigation of the house a relative came upon a package of negotiable papers, consisting of stocks and bonds in small amounts. A thorough search was instituted, when it was found money and securities had been hidden in different places to the amount of $10,000, which had been hidden away for years.

Mrs. Gentry Hillman, of Birmingham, is visiting Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Woodridge.

Mrs. Virginia Lipscomb has returned from a visit to Oklahoma.

RUSSIANS
AROUSSED

Kerensky and French Munition Chief Have Inspired the Russo-Rumanians.

ITALY MAKES NEW GAINS

23,681 Austro-Hungarians Taken with 36 Guns, Since Middle of May.

Following reports of an increase in the artillery activity against the Austrians in the eastern theater, comes a statement that there has been a renewal of the activity of the Russo-Rumanian forces against the Teutonic allies in Rumania, and that early attacks by them are expected. The visits to Jassy, the new capital of Rumania, of M. Thomas, the French minister of munitions, and M. Kerensky, the Russian minister of war, possibly may be connected with the revival of the activity of the Russo-Rumanian troops.

Around San Giovanni and Duino, at the lower end of the line, the Austrians heavily bombarded the Italians in their new positions and ineffectively tried to oust them. Both sides are claiming the capture of large numbers of prisoners since the new battle from Tolmino to the sea began, the Italians asserting that they have taken 23,681, and the Austrians 14,500.

Tuesday passed with relative calm on both the British and French fronts in France, the British war office merely recording a successful raid northwest of La Bassee. The French official communication asserts that artillery fire alone prevailed.

CONFERENCE
SEPTEMBER 26

Formal Announcement Made By Presiding Elder Hulse --Sessions Five Days.

Rev. T. L. Hulse, presiding elder of the Hopkinsville district of the Methodist church, announces that he has been authorized by Bishop Murrain to say that the meeting of the Louisville Conference this year will be held in Hopkinsville instead of Princeton as was originally planned. The date of the opening of the conference will be September 26 and it will continue for five days.

Before laying the matter before Bishop Murrain, Rev. Mr. Hulse laid the matter before the other presiding elders of the conference and they unanimously agreed to the change. Bishop Murrain also readily agreed when it was brought to his attention.

Walter A. Radford, of Louisville, was in town Tuesday.

Jas. B. Allensworth has returned from Frankfort.

BANKERS
MET HERE

And County Chairmen Were Named to Push Liberty Bond Sales.

SIX COUNTIES ORGANIZED

Geo. C. Long, President First National Bank, Is District Chairman.

A meeting of bankers from Christian, Trigg, Todd, Logan, Muhlenberg and Butler counties was held here Tuesday, presided over by George C. Long, chairman for the district. The purpose was to organize the people to the importance of subscribing for the Liberty loan bonds. John O. Street, of Elkton, was appointed for Todd county; Jno. T. Reynolds, of Greenville, chairman for Muhlenberg; T. D. Evans, of Russellville, for Logan; John S. Crenshaw, of Cadiz, for Trigg and John M. Carson, of Morgantown, for Butler county.

The various chairmen are expected to start an active campaign in their respective counties to arouse the patriotism of the people to a proper support of the government. The more bonds sold, the less the burdens of taxation will be.

The appointment on Tuesday of former Adjutant General William Percy D. Haly as Collector of Internal Revenue at Frankfort, means that Senator Beckham has succeeded in landing his campaign manager in an office so important that it has caused Perce to add several hitherto unknown initials to his name.

"DIXIE" WILL STIR
LOCAL AUDIENCE

Demonstration Certain to Follow When Brooks Concert Band Plays.

When the famous Brooks concert band strikes up the stirring air of "Dixie" at the big chautauqua tent during its engagement here, it will be very doubtful whether the big canvas auditorium will be strong enough to hold the enthusiasm which will be shown by local citizens. There has never been a time when the good old tune did not provoke an outburst of applause wherever it has been played, and this is especially so in this section, where the song is loved for the sentiment attached to it. That is why the Lincoln chautauqua tent may not be strong enough to hold the demonstration when the Brooks concert band plays, because this noted musical organization has the reputation of playing the grand old tune as it has never been played before. Musical critics and laymen who have enjoyed the Brooks band concerts say that there seems to be something about Brooks' "Dixie" that enriches the sentiment and stirs the very soul, arousing national pride and creating a noble sense of patriotism and loyalty to country. While all this is true of "Dixie" played by anybody, it is said that the Brooks band has created a sensation with their wonderful rendition of the air, especially since the nation has entered the great war.

The Brooks concert band will be a handsomely uniformed organization, and the programs will be varied, ranging from rag-time to grand opera, with liberal patriotic numbers and novelties to please all. The Lincoln chautauquas are doing their southern circuits a real favor by presenting the noted band on their regular programs. Solos, duets and other especially enjoyable numbers will be featured in addition to the concert selections. The organization appears as an imposing band in the afternoon, and as a complete orchestra in the evening.

Let us do your job printing.

MASS MEETING.

There will be a Mass meeting in Virginia Park tomorrow night at 8 o'clock to arouse the patriotism of the people on doing their duty as citizens in floating the Liberty Loan.

Some must fight, but those who stay at home can buy a bond. Even the ladies can help in this way. Be there.

SHORT CUT
TO PANTRY

Reduction of Speculative Claim Between Producer and Consumer Is Intention.

BREAD AND SUGAR FIRST

Producer, Middle Man and Final Buyer Will Be Represented on New Boards.

Washington, May 30.—Reduction of the present high prices the consumer pays for food, it was announced will be one of the first aims of the new food administration, which will be created with Herbert C. Hoover at its head as soon as congress passes the government's food control legislation.

This will be undertaken by cutting down the margin between producer and consumer through a system of executives under the central administration, each to study the means of shortening the speculative chain that handles a particular commodity. The first staples to be studied will be grain, flour, meal and sugar.

Stability of prices, Mr. Hoover believes, is vital to the successful lowering of costs to the consumer, both here and abroad. The executives will have under them boards, upon which will be represented producer, middle man and consumer.

The system of executive boards will be one of several divisions into which the administration will be divided. One duty of the executive will be to advise on allied purchases, which Mr. Hoover and government officials hope will be removed from a competitive basis when the allies have established permanent buying commissions here.

The food administration through its commodity executives will ascertain just what the country can spare in food supplies and this will be balanced off against the allied demands.

Wm. H. H. Miller, U. S. Attorney General under President Harrison, died in Indianapolis, Saturday, aged 76 years.

The Russian situation has resolved itself into a series of appeals by leaders and generals to the soldiers to fight, which they seem in no hurry to heed.

Ten thousand aviators are to be flung into the war at earliest possible moment by the United States and tens of thousands of machines are to be manufactured and rushed across the Atlantic. This is to be one of the first and greatest blows struck at Germany by America.

Germany has announced that hospital ships will hereafter be treated as war ships and sunk, excepting certain ships from Greece, provided notice is given six weeks in advance of their sailing. As the wounded either die or get well in six weeks, the folly of the proviso is manifest.

The Sponsor for the South, at the Confederate Reunion in Washington
next week will be Miss Mary Curtis Lee, only daughter of Gen. Robt. E.
Lee, commander-in-chief of the Confederate armies, and her maids of honor will be Miss Willie Gertrude Storey, of Austin, Texas, and Miss Marion Amis Green, of Louisville, Ky.

Representative Rankin, of Montana, made her maiden speech on the floor of the house Monday and incidentally won her initial fight. She succeeded in amending by a unanimous vote in the committee of the whole the food bill so as to provide that in making the proposed food survey the services of women shall be used insofar as practicable.

Another lot of 150 student-aviators for the army went into training Monday at six colleges which are aiding the government in building up the corps. The first students were received last Monday and new classes will be started each succeeding Monday until the full 600 are under training. The plan is to turn out 150 aviation reserve corps officers each week after the first class finishes its course, the number at the schools being kept at 600. The war department issued a statement saying that men are still needed for this work. Applications to the aeronautical officers of the nearest army post will bring any man who seeks to join the air service information and necessary papers.

Regulations to govern exemptions under the selective draft are being worked out by Provost Marshal General Crowder with a number of prominent lawyers. Although the plans are not yet complete it is probable that the jury wheel system will be followed in selecting those who are to go to the first army of 500,000 and not until the names have been drawn and each registration district has provided the number apportioned to it will exemptions be considered. As each individual drawn reports, his claim for exemption will be passed upon and if he is exempted another will be drawn to fill the vacancy. The law provides for local exemption boards in each county and for each 30,000 in city populations. Boards of review also will be established on the basis of one or more to each federal judicial district. All the boards will be composed of civilians.

POLLY AND HER POULTRY

By DOROTHY DOUGLASS.

Polly glanced wonderingly out of her casement window at her beautifully equipped poultry run with its dozens of well-cared-for chickens. If anyone had suggested to her some two years before that she would some day be the owner of a small and profitable poultry farm Polly would have laughed the idea to scorn.

"I didn't reckon on my dear brother's health, or rather lack of health, then," she mused. In her heart she knew that she would have worked her fingers to skin and bone if by so doing she could watch the color returning to Don's cheeks and the sparkle to his eyes. The color was beginning to appear and the eyes were already responding to her care. A healthy, strong man was developing slowly but surely in her brother.

"If it hadn't been for you," she said to him, "I would never have thought of the country and never dreamed that I had courage and intelligence enough to start a chicken farm. Aren't we lucky to be so independent?" Polly questioned while she whipped up an egg.

"You are making a perfect baby of me," the brother said, as he swallowed the egg.

"You required babying for a while," Polly said; then added laughingly: "As soon as you are robust enough I am going to put you on guard at night by the henhouse. Two more of our beautiful six-month-old Minorcas have been stolen from the coop."

A crash as of smashing timber sounded sharply from the road in front.

She and Don rushed out and ran quickly to the side of a huge motor that had plunged madly through the whitewashed fence that guarded their property.

"My sister and I are not hurt," a man's voice quickly assured her.

A second later Polly stood beside the owner of the voice. He was bending solicitously over the most lovely woman Polly had ever seen.

"We have done fearful damage to your fence," he added; and after ascertaining for certain that his sister was not going to faint or perform any other feminine maneuver he turned his eyes and attention toward Polly.

"You must come inside a moment," she said hastily. "My brother and I were just about to have a cupful of tea. Won't you join us?"

"We will be charmed," Adele Vincent said with the delightful frankness that was a part of her nature. "Won't we, brother?"

"Indeed we will," John Vincent replied with alacrity.

Polly led the way, and once inside went quickly to Don's side.

"Our name is Vincent," her brother said.

"And ours is Parker," Don returned.

"We will enjoy our tea far more if you and your brother promise right now to come up and have dinner with us tonight. We live just at the top of the hill." Adele pointed out of the window to where a rambling old mansion gleamed in the sunlight.

"My brother is not very strong. I make him go to bed with the chickens," Polly laughed and cast an affectionate glance at Don. "Like so many people who possess wonderful voices he is delightfully constructed. Could we rush off rather early?"

"Oh!" breathed Adele rapturously.
"I have had the most glorious organ installed in the library. You will come up and sing for me, won't you?" She was all eagerness and Don flushed sensatively.

"Sister is a bit daft on music," John Vincent told Polly. "You and I seem to be left out in the cold. However," he added with a look of keen appreciation at Polly Parker, "I will show you all my patents and inventions while they are racketing at the piano."

Polly caught the admonishing glance
Adele sent him and laughed quickly.

"Never mind, Mr. Vincent," she said.
"If you can show me any patent that will catch a chicken thief I will be highly interested."

In the evening Don was fastidious about his necktie and Polly fretted over the lines of her old-fashioned evening dress of simple muslin.

It was at the dinner table that Polly opened wide her eyes and laughingly held up the drumstick of a chicken.

"Donny," she questioned, "whose identification mark is that?" She laughed, but there was wonderment in her expression. Adele Vincent and her brother gazed inquiringly at the small pink celluloid ring that circled the drumstick Polly was exhibiting.

"By Jove—it's one of your six-month Minorcas!" Don exclaimed. Vincent called the cook into the dining room.

"Ah done buy them pullets from ma vegetable man," she told them. "I see that pink ring on the leg and done put it back when it come out of the oven just to see what you—all thought about it."

"That vegetable man, Martha, is a chicken thief and has been robbing this young lady's henhouse for many weeks. Next time he comes with pullets to sell just you call me."

"Yes sah, ah will," Martha's beaming face disappeared.

"You told me you would show me a burglar alarm," Polly said laughingly,
"but you didn't promise to catch my burglar so easily."

It was a scant three months before the tiny village church flung open its doors for the entrance of a double wedding party.

TERRIBLY SWOLLEN

Suffering Described As Torture
Relieved by Black-Draught.

Rossville, Ga.—Mrs. Kate Lee Able, of this place, writes: "My husband is an engineer, and once while living, he injured himself with a piece of heavy machinery, across the abdomen. He was so sore he could not bear to press on himself at all, on chest or abdomen. He weighed 165 lbs., and fell off until he weighed 110 lbs., in two weeks.

He became constipated and it looked like he would die. We had three different doctors, yet with all their medicine, his bowels failed to act. He would turn up a ten-cent bottle of castor oil, and drink it two or three days in succession. He did this yet without result. We became desperate, he suffered so. He was swollen terribly. He told me his suffering could only be described as torture.

I sent and bought Theodor's Black-Draught. I made him take a big dose, and when it began to act he fainted, he was in such misery, but he got relief and began to mend at once. He got well, and we both feel he owes his life to Theodor's Black-Draught."

Theodor's Black-Draught will help you to keep fit, ready for the day's work.

Daily Thought.

Good sense must in many cases determine good breeding; because the same thing that would be civil at one otherwise at another time and to another person, but there are some gen-

How Does It Benefit Me?

Business men believe in the Federal Reserve System, but many of them know little about it or how it operates.

To tell our community how the system benefits them and how they can contribute directly to its support we have prepared a short pamphlet.

If you haven't seen it
we shall be glad either to mail it to you or give it to you if you will call.

Are the chickens playing "old scratch" with your garden?

If so, just come in and get some wire to fence them out. The worry you will save will be worth more than the wire will cost. When you have fencing to do let us figure with you on the "wire."

We are the "live wires" for garden tools too.

WAR! What Is It All About?

HAS the whole world gone stark mad over a very foolish and trivial question? Are swords rattling, cannon rumbling, mailed armor glistening just because Russia wanted to show her love for the little brother—Serbia? Tear aside the curtain of Europe's politics and see the grim and sinister game of chess that is being played. See upon what a slim, yet desperate, excuse the sacred lives of millions are being sacrificed. Read the history of the past one hundred years, as written by some of the greatest authorities the world has ever known, and learn the naked, shameful truth. Just to get you started as a Review of Reviews subscriber, we make you this extraordinary offer. We will give to you

FREE—"Europe at War"

A big book and over 300 pages, size 10 x 7 inches, handsomely and durably bound in cloth, containing the dramatic history of the great events leading up to the present time; over 50 important and timely special articles by experts on the different phases of the conflict; hundreds of graphic pictures, portraits, photographs, diagrams, specially drawn war maps, illuminating statistical records, copies of official documents and diplomatic messages exchanged between the powers—a clear, vivid, accurate, permanent, interesting and valuable record—a record which once seen you will not willingly be without. Europe's past and present are here dramatically pictured and presented. Hundreds of illustrations graphically tell their own stories. More fascinating than any romance, here is a history so vivid, so dramatic, so stirring, so fascinating, so realistic, so wonderfully presented, so thrillingly told that it leaves an ineffable impression.

Lincoln McConnell—He Can Crack Paint on Wooden Indian's Check

ALPH PARLETTE says this about Lincoln McConnell: "I wish everybody who doesn't like lectures could hear him. I wish the king who never smiled again would sit in on a McConnell outburst. He can crack the paint on a wooden Indian's check. He can get juice out of a tombstone and flowers out of a snow bank. He can read a page from the Congressional Record and convince you or a chapter from Webster's Unabridged and make you scream. And all the time be saving you!"

"He enjoys the lectures as much as anybody. He smacks his lips—the sentences taste so good. His face clouds, cartoons, brightens. He hammers away and just with the devil in the last ditch he stops and saves everybody with a smile."

"Remember, he is tremendously serious. You laugh, yell and cheer, you wipe the tears out of your eyes and push your ribs back into place and realize you have risen. It was a sermon all the time with the fun and side show just to save things. The audience has been shot and spanked and slugged, but everybody sees it was needed."

Lincoln McConnell has been lecturing under the title of "The Live Wire of the Chautauqua Platform" for ten years. He has averaged one address a day during the past eighteen years. His lecture time is sold five years ahead. He is a lawyer, minister and evangelist. He lectures on "Dead Lions," "Happy Homes" and "Does It Pay?" He will be here the last day of the Chautauqua to deliver one address in the afternoon and another at night.

HEAD WAS FLAT ALL TIME

Pickaninny Surprised Doctor Who Thought He Was Badly Hurt in Automobile Accident.

It's a wise pickaninny that knows his own head. A woman was driving a runabout automobile near Columbus circle, New York, when a little negro boy ran directly in front of the machine and disappeared under it. The woman stopped instantly, and, jumping out of the runabout, picked up the little lad and put him into the vacant seat. He was covered with dust and was ominously silent. A policeman came along and got into the automobile. Just then the colored lad came back to life.

"Please don't arrest that nice lady, she ain't hurt me, honest," the boy pleaded. By this time a doctor was examining the pickaninny's head. "There's a slight depression on the skull here," said the doctor. "I find a flat space about three inches in diameter at the top of the head. Aside from that I guess he is all right." "Say," said the boy, "I ain't hurt. Please let me go home." "I am afraid your head is hurt a bit, boy," said the physician. "No, it ain't," protested the boy, "it's always that way. It's kinda flat on top." And that being found to be quite true, the boy was permitted to run along home.

GARDEN A MEDICINE CHEST

Curative Properties Found in Many of the Ordinary Vegetables.

Every man who has a kitchen garden has a medicine chest in his back yard, although he probably has not seriously looked upon it as such, remarks a writer in the Portland Oregonian. In the onion, for example, he has a sulphur oil which gives the onion its reputation as a remedy for insomnia and which some physicians hold as a valuable anodyne for "rheumatic" pains. There are certain oils in turnips and parsnips that have purgative and diuretic properties. There is salicin in the potato; and spinach contains iron. Cabbage is highly regarded as a preventive and corrective of scurvy and scrofula. The composition of the tomato is chemically so subtle that it is not yet fully understood, although several native principles have been isolated and nuances have been given to them. Thus the man who eats freely of vegetables is taking medicine without paying for a prescription and without being bothered by the high cost of drugs. In the normal individual the instinctive appetite automatically regulates the size of the "dose."

Riches and Wants.

"As riches increase," says Solomon, "so do the mouths that devour them." The master mouth has no more than before. The owner, methinks, is like Oenus in the fable, who is perpetually winding a rope of hay, and an ass at the end perpetually eating it.

Out of these inconveniences arise naturally one more, which is, that no greatness can be satisfied or contented with itself; still, if it could mount up a little higher, it would be happy; if it could gain but that point, it would obtain all its desires; but yet at last, when it is up to the very top of the Peak of Teneriffe, it is in very great danger of breaking its neck downward, but in no possibility of ascending upward into the seat of tranquility above the moon.—Abraham Cowley.

Itching piles provoke profanity but profanity won't remove them. Doan's ointment is recommended for itching, 1c, 10c, 50c at any drug store.—Advertisement.

IN THE HOT BATHS OF JAPAN

Immersion at Temperature That Would Scald the Occidental, Excites Wonder of Visitors.

The number of baths taken by the Japanese at the hot springs, says the Herald of Asia, and the length of time they remain in the water run counter to all western medical opinion regarding the utility of hot baths for invalids. Five or six times a day for an hour or longer at a time would not be considered an uncommon regime. A smile of incredulity was raised some years ago when Professor Chamberlain told us of a tiny spa where the bathers stayed in the water for a month or more, with stones on their laps to prevent them from floating in their sleep. Yet I could name another remote little spot where a very old man, well advanced in his nineties, in fact, has literally lived in the shallow warm water of the spring for years; his knees and neck supported by a beam, from early morn till midnight.

The high temperature at which the baths are taken has excited the wonder of many travelers. At Kusatsu, for instance, that of the chief bath is 128 degrees Fahrenheit; but such a temperature necessarily involves special precautions before entering the bath, with a limit of from three and one-half to four minutes' immersion. When we remember that water at 115 degrees Fahrenheit can just be borne by the hand but not by the whole body, it is possible to realize the agony of afflicted humanity in the Kusatsu baths. At the same time the Japanese skin cannot be so sensitive as that of the European, for the daily tub is enjoyed by the native at a temperature that makes the boldest of us wince.

WAS MODEL FOR "PEER GYNT"

Ibsen Inspired in Creating Masterpiece Partly by an Eccentric Young Dane.

There are many models back of "Peer Gynt," and among them a young Dane. Ibsen met the young man frequently in Italy. He was a peculiarly conceited and affected young bluffer, Georg Brandes writes in the Century Magazine. He used to tell the Italian girls at Ischia and Capri that his father, a schoolteacher in reality, was the best friend of the king of Denmark, and that he himself was one of the greatest men in Denmark. To prove this, he often appeared in entire suits of white satin. He called himself a poet, but could find poetical inspiration only in the wilderness or in desolate, dreary spots. He once went to Crete to write, he said, a great drama of tragedy. He returned, however, without having accomplished his purpose. He averred that he could feel tragic emotion only in the mountains, and lived in self-delusion and illusion.

Some of his characteristics have passed in "Peer Gynt." Otherwise "Peer Gynt" is supposed to be an incarnation of Norwegian folklores. Peer lies are not really falsehoods, if this implies the intention to deceive others. They are rather self-deceptions. "Peer Gynt" has something in common with Cervantes' "Don Quixote," and is more closely related to Daudet's "Tartarin."

Height of a Camera.

A safe rule in most cases, is to have the camera at such a height that the lens is about level with the eyes of a person of average height, standing. This implies that most tripod stands, all ultra portable ones, are too short in the leg, as even those which allow the camera to be at this height only do so when the feet are so near together that the stand is unstable. With lenses of short focus it is usually advantageous, especially in interior work, to have the camera lower, while with very long focus lenses it may be higher to avoid a foreshortening of the ground. In the case of domestic interiors, it is important to have the lens well above the level of a table top, as the effect of the furniture seen from a lower viewpoint will be unsatisfactory.

Unrelated Potatoes.

Sweet potatoes have not much in common botanically with their more familiar namesakes. They have long been cultivated as food in tropical and subtropical countries, and were actually introduced into England at an earlier date than the common potato. The two tubers were often confounded by writers of the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries, but the sweet potato won more popularity than its rival. Steeped in wine or made into a sweetmeat, it was regarded as an excellent invigorator. Sweetish and agreeable to the taste, its flesh-forming qualities are considered equal at least to those of the common potato.

Blind Children Learn.

Here is an original method used to teach a little blind child her alphabet, that I hope may help other mothers who have little ones afflicted with the same handicap. Use the raised letters from old felt pennants and paste on four pieces of cardboard. Dividing the alphabet into four parts prevent the child from trying to learn too many letters at once. When the alphabet is mastered, the letters can then be made into words and put on small cardboards. The little one's touch soon learns to distinguish between letters and it is interesting to note how soon it grasps both letters and words.

Safe to Be Around.

"How is your husband getting on with his golf?"
"Very well, indeed. The children are allowed to watch him now."

QUEBEC REALLY FRENCH CITY

People Cling to Language of the Land of Their Forefathers--Little Noise on the Streets.

Quebec is the seemingly impregnable stronghold of France in America. It is true that Wolfe defeated Montcalm on the plains of Abraham, and the British flag replaced the French on the citadel, but to all intents and purposes it is a French city still. Four-fifths of the people are French; French is taught in the schools, and spoken everywhere. Quebec is not only different from cities of the United States, but it is utterly different from the rest of Canada. It is much older and looks even older because it is built largely of gray stone. Quebec thrives and grows, but not noisily and obviously like other American cities. The additions are all so perfectly in harmony with what is already there that you can scarcely detect them.

Just as the city seems to grow imperceptibly, so it seems to be busy without being at all noisy or confused. The narrow streets, many of them steep as toboggan slides, are well filled with people; but the din of street noises is strikingly absent. The people are soft-voiced and do not shout about their business; there are few automobiles, and no street vendors. Especially on Saturday nights you are struck by the fact that the streets are packed, and yet almost silent, except for a low hum of conversation and laughter.

Hot Shot for Daddy.

Jane had been much interested in the preparations her young aunt had been making all week for the big charity ball. She asked her father so many questions about this affair that at last he said they would play they were going to the ball. Jane was all excitement while mother dressed her for the ball. Then she was whirled off in the make-believe auto, of which daddy was the chauffeur, to the make-believe ballroom. They had a regular ball. Jane's car was called, she tripped out as big as you please, climbed up in the big arm chair, and nestled down among the cushions for the ride home. "All right, baby; it's sleepy time now; come and kiss daddy good night," said her father, and to his great surprise the little lady threw her head up and said, "Hub, ladies don't kiss their chauffeurs good night." Daddy was squelched.

Potatoes Best Cooked in Skins.

Approximately 20 per cent of each potato pared by ordinary household methods is lost in the process. The loss includes much and sometimes all of the portion of the tuber containing important soluble salts. Potatoes that are boiled and baked in their skins lose practically none of their food value.

FERRELL BOYS REUNION.

The date for the next reunion of the Ferrell's Boys, in this city, will be August 10 and 11. There seems to be a general desire to have the reunion in spite of the war, as but few of the old "boys" are under the military age of 31.

NEXT SESSION IN HOPKINSVILLE.

GONE TO ASHEVILLE.

Thomas L. Morrow has accepted the position of Manager for the Peter Fox Sons Co., at their branch at Asheville, N. C. He left this week for his new position and will be followed a little later by his wife and daughter.

He Came To Life.

Greely, Col., May 30.—Mrs. R. T. Collins, seeking $16,000 alimony from her second husband, had just left the witness stand in district court here today after testifying that she had seen her first husband, Samuel E. Baker, die and had paid his funeral expenses when the defense called Samuel E. Baker to the stand as a witness. He denied that he had died and said that he is now living in Cleveland, Ohio, though at one time Mrs. Collins was his wife. Mrs. Collins declared Baker was not the Baker to whom she was married.

"Come on Over, See My Corn Fall Off!"

"See—all you have to do is to use your two fingers and lift the corn right off. That's the way 'Gels-It' always works. You just put on about 2 drops. Then the corn will only shrivel, but loosen from the toe, without affecting the surrounding flesh in the least. Why, it's almost a pleasure to have corns and

"Gels-It" makes the use of irritating salves, bandaging, taping, plasters and other things not only foolish, but unnecessary. Use this wonderful discovery, "Gels-It," for any soft or hard corn or callus. It is the new, simple, easy, quick way, and it never fails. You'll never have to cut a corn again with knives or scissors, and run chances of blood poison. Try "Gels-It" tonight. "Gels-It" is sold everywhere, in a bottle, or sent on receipt of price by E. WOMANLESS WEDDING

Local Talent Show Drew Crowd of 1,200 People.

"The Womanless Wedding" Tuesday night drew a great crowd, and at 25 cents, the receipts were $203.25. The show was one laugh to finish, the grotesque costumes of leading citizens making a great hit. The performance was over by 9:30 o'clock, and everybody went home in a good humor. It was an all-star company and everybody's grand entry brought down the house.

About Seals.

That the seal is a typical marine animal is well known. Hence, the occurrence of a species of phoca in Lake Balkal, southern Siberia, which is of fresh water and has no connection with the sea, is of special interest. Recently Dr. Charles Hoxby has obtained skins and skulls of two specimens of the Balkal seal which have been offered to the Museum of Natural History, where the species has not hitherto been represented. It is the only seal which habitually lives in fresh water, though the common seal will often resort to estuaries, and even ascend the Trent, as far up as Hazel Ford, where it has been shot. The Vi-karo seal again, common in the Arctic regions and also found in the north of the Baltic, occurs in Lakes Ladoga and Onega. It is able, however, to reach these from the Baltic by means of the rivers Neva and Svir.

Patriotism.

It should be the work of a genuine and noble patriotism to raise the life of the nation to the level of its privileges; to harmonize its general practice with its abstract principles; to reduce to actual facts the ideals of its institutions; to elevate instruction into knowledge; to deepen knowledge into wisdom; to render knowledge and wisdom complete in righteousness and to make the love of country in the love of men.—Henry Giles.

CARE OF SICK CHILDREN

Rules Adopted to Make the Ailing Youngsters Take the Prescribed Food.

Everyone who has had the care of a convalescent child knows how hard it is to make him eat the things that the doctor has prescribed. Ingenious mothers and nurses have invented all sorts of schemes and devices to make the simple diet of the sick child acceptable and interesting.

The invalid who refuses to take his milk and eggs will often drink an egg-nog from a tall glass through a straw, observes a writer in the New York Tribune. A little girl admires parties, and will eat almost anything if it is served from a doll's tea set, especially if some of her dolls are invited to share the feast.

The dessert may be covered with a little tent, house or wigwag, with a tiny doll standing guard at the door, and no pecking is allowed until everything else on the tray is eaten.

Faces may be sketched on the eggs and hats or caps tied on them. Toast cut in fancy shapes is most exciting. It can be trimmed with a knife and made into little houses with doors and windows, or it may be cut with cookie cutters. A doll's chafing dish is a lot of fun. If the invalid is strong enough to sit up, a small table may be set, and he will never know what is being served. If father is the waiter with a napkin over his arm.

With a little thought and care the child may be made to eat almost anything.

EFFECT OF WIND ON SOUND

Differences in Strength of Wind Is What Prevents the Spread of Sound.

One of the government scientists gives an interesting explanation of the action of the wind in preventing the spread of sound.

It is, he claims, not the wind, as such, that prevents sound from traveling against it, but differences in the strength of the wind. If, for instance, the wind is stronger at one side, its effect will be to tilt the sound waves in one direction or another. Differences of temperature in the air also cause deflection of the waves of sound. Other atmospheric causes exist which deflect sound from a straight course and prevent it from going as far in a certain direction as it may have been expected to go.

Some of the sirens in this country, says this scientist, produce sounds which ought theoretically to be audible at a distance of 1,500 miles, but, in fact, the authorities are satisfied if they are heard only two miles away. The reason for the discrepancy between calculation and experiment was probably atmospheric deflection of the sound.

Babylonian Tablets.

Among the tablets at the University of Pennsylvania museum, Dr. Stephen Langdon has discovered one which is an excellent map of the district near Nippur. It is in effect a cadastral survey of a section about three by four miles and shows canals, villages and fields. An interesting feature is that the field belonging to the king is smaller than one belonging to the incantation priests. There is also a "field of the table," which is supposed to furnish food for the ordinary priests of the temple. There is a common for feeding sheep and a field of reeds open to the public, for the Babylonians depended on reeds, which grew to enormous size, as in the far East people depend on bamboo.

Scalding Fruit.

For cakes and puddings scald all the fruit by pouring boiling water over it. This cleanses the fruit thoroughly, and causes it to swell and become fresh and juicy. Do this the night before cooking, so that the fruit is perfectly dry before being mixed with the other ingredients. If there is no time for this, put the fruit on a coarse sieve or colander, dredge some flour over it, and rub briskly. The flour and stalks fall through, leaving the fruit dry and clean.

Too Delicate.

A man traveling in Maine met a middle-aged farmer, who said his father, aged ninety, was still on the farm where he was born.

"Ninety years old, eh?"

"Yes, pop is close to ninety."

"Is his health good?"

"Tain't much now. He's been complaining for a few months back."

"What's the matter with him?"

"I dunno; sometimes I think farmin' don't agree with him."

Pay Up Day in China.

At the Chinese New Year, the houses and other buildings are decked with flowers, and the streets are thronged with people, who come out to buy provisions, new clothes and gifts. One good New Year custom in China is that of settling up all debts before the old year has died out. A Chinaman who allows the New Year to dawn before he has settled with his creditors feels himself disgraced.

Dieting.

Dieting is the pastime of those who are physically unfit for more active recreations. It may be enjoyed indoors or out, and though it is not so vigorous as football or so exciting as hunting wild game, yet it has many thrills. Perhaps its most tense moments are at mealtime when one reaches a high pitch of excitement at sight of some thin soup and two hard crackers. One becomes in fact so excited that one is obliged to hold tight to the chair. It is particularly exciting to realize that one is likely to fly into a frenzy at any moment and eat everything in sight. The scales are almost indispensable to dieting, although, for that matter, they are almost indispensable to a dish. However, to be anything at all, a diet must have a pair of scales. It will amuse you to see that every time you are about to step on the scales you think perhaps you have lost a little weight.—Detroit Journal.

SUNS AND WORLDS IN MAKING

Astronomers Admitted to "Workshop of the Universe" to View Wonders Therein.

We look today on the things of a century, a millennium ago. Light traveling at the rate of 180,000 miles a second requires more than four years to come from the nearest star, perhaps thousands and tens of thousands of years from the furthest. Hence in every case we see not what is, but what was.

Thousands of nebulae have been discovered in the heavens. The spiral pattern of some few nebulae has long been confirmation of the theory that they are the real beginnings of a solar system. But there has recently come in much evidence of the spiral character of other nebulae, that the conclusion seems forced upon us that practically all are in a state of rotation, and are hence supplying the centrifugal force to throw off the rings which roll themselves up into planets revolving about central suns.

When opportunity is given to look directly down upon a nebulae there results startling evidence of its being in rotation. There is no other way of explaining its remarkable details of structure. Some look like the propeller blades of a motorboat; some are actually caught in the act of throwing off rings, which are seen condensing at certain centers, rolling themselves into planets, henceforth to travel around their suns. The great nebulae in Andromeda gives striking evidence that it is working out another and greater solar system than our own.

In short, it seems that in studying the nebulae we are being admitted to the very workshop of the universe, and are permitted to watch the actual process of turning out worlds. Nothing in the heavens is better fitted to fill the very soul with awe. As in the case of the "fixed stars," our lives are too brief, too feeble our eyes, to detect the actual motion.—Frederick Campbell's "Suns and Worlds in the Making."

Being Respectable.

To be respectable implies a multitude of little observances, from the strict keeping of Sunday down to the careful tying of a cravat.—Victor

A Motor Shovel.

In unloading ore or coal from the holds of vessels on the Great Lakes there is always a certain amount of material in corners and between hatches that cannot be reached by the unloading buckets. The dock superintendent at Buffalo has designed a motor-driven scraper shovel that moves such material much faster than it can be moved by hand. The machine carries a shovel that can be raised and dumped automatically, but whenever possible the ore or coal is pushed underneath the hatch openings, where the unloading buckets haul it out of the ship. The power-scraper shovel is said to do the work of from 12 to 40 shovelers, according to the type of boat; and to save from one to six hours' time in the unloading process.

THE "KHAKI WOMAN."

The "khaki woman" was something of a shock to the British public at first, but her training and discipline have been justified. When the Zeppelins first attacked London the woman's ambulance was the first on the scene to remove the dead and the injured. The corps rendered sterling service at the time of the recent East end explosion, and even now, every Sunday, they take the children who are suffering from shock into the country in the hope of restoring their shattered nerves.

The gorilla is man's nearest relative on the earth today. He is so much like a man that in all likelihood, according to Doctor Gregory, he would in the course of ages develop into a very human sort of creature, if his species were permitted to survive. Unfortunately, he will not enjoy the opportunity, because his race is being rapidly exterminated.

THE PENALTY OF OVERWORK

Many Hopkinsville People Are Beginning to Feel The Strain.

The heavy tax of overwork—the extra strain so necessary to many trades and occupations is hard on the kidneys. The kidneys begin to fail in their work and the poisonous matter collects in the system. If your work seems hard for you, if you have a lame, weak or aching back, if you seem tired and listless, if you notice sediment in the urine, unnatural color or irregular passages and seem to be running down without apparent cause, begin at once with Doan's Kidney Pills, the remedy that has proven so beneficial to your neighbors. It has brought strength to the backs of thousands of working men and women. Read Hopkinsville proof:

O. J. Willis, 534 O'Neal avenue, Hopkinsville, says: "Overstraining at my work caused my kidneys to become weak. My back ached dreadfully. I was so sore and lame I could hardly lift anything or do any stooping. My kidneys acted too frequently and annoyed me day and night. I used Doan's Kidney Pills as directed and they went right to the spot, ridding me of the backaches and putting my kidneys in good order."

Waste No Food

Food Waste of About 700 Million Dollars.

"For partial immediate relief, every individual and community should consider earnestly the matter of food conservation and the limitation of waste. As a Nation we seem to have a disdain of economizing. In many homes there is a strong feeling that it is 'only decent' to provide more than will be eaten and that it is demeaning to reckon closely. The experts of the Department of Agriculture report to me that the dietary studies made by them point to an annual food waste of about $700,000,000. Of course, the waste in families of very limited means is slight, but in the families of moderate and ample means the waste is considerable. Even if the estimate were reduced by half, the waste would still be enormous.

"The food waste in the household, the experts assert, results in large measure from bad preparation and bad cooking, from improper care and handling, and, in well-to-do families, from serving an undue number of courses and an over-abundant supply and failing to save and utilize the food not consumed. As an instance of improper handling, it is discovered that in the preparation of potatoes 20 per cent of the edible portion in many cases is discarded."—SECRETARY OF AGRICULTURE, March 3, 1917.

Food is Wasted

(a) When we eat more food than our bodies need for growth and repair and to supply energy for our work. Overeating tends to poor health and fat instead of brawn, makes us sluggish and indolent instead of energetic and resourceful. Eat enough and no more. Eat for physical and mental efficiency.

(b) When food is burned or spoiled in cooking. Improperly prepared or poorly seasoned food will be left on the table and probably wasted. Buy food wisely and then prepare it carefully.

(c) When too much food is prepared for a meal. Unserved portions are apt to be thrown into the garbage pail or allowed to spoil. Many housekeepers do not know how to use left-over foods to make appetizing dishes.

(d) When too much food is served at a meal. Uneaten portions are left on the plate and later thrown into the garbage pail. Learn to know the needs of your family, and serve each no more than you think he will want.

(e) When anything edible is allowed to go to the garbage pail or allowed to spoil for lack of proper handling.

(f) When food is handled carelessly. Buy clean food, keep it clean until used, be neat in all details of cooking and serving. This lessens waste and is a valuable health measure as well.

The Real Book Lover.

Here is the definition of a book lover given by the librarian of Brown University: "The book lover is distinguished from the reader as such by loving his books, and from the collector as such by reading them. He prizes not only the soul of the book, but also its body which he would make a house beautiful, meet for the dwelling of the spirit given by its author. Love is not too strong a word to apply to his regard, which demands, in the language of Dorothy Wordsworth, 'a beautiful book, a book to care—peculiar, distinctive, individual.'"

Eating With Fingers.

In ancient times among Orientals, as is largely the custom in those lands today, each person handled his food with his fingers. Each person broke off a small piece of bread, dipped it in the dish and then conveyed it to his mouth with a small piece of the meat or other contents of the dish. To pick out a delicate morsel and hand it to a friend or guest, perhaps to clap it into his mouth, is today in Afghanistan, in Persia, and in some other countries, esteemed a compliment, and to refuse such an offering is contrary to good manners.

Provided, further, That in the case of temporary absence from actual place of legal residence of any person liable to registration as provided herein, such registration may be made by mail under registrations to be prescribed by the president.

Frauds Provided Against.

Section 6.—That the president is hereby authorized to utilize the service of any or all departments and any or all officers or agents of the United States and of the several states, territories, and the District of Columbia, and subdivisions thereof, in the execution of this act, and all officers and agents of the United States and of the several states, territories and subdivisions thereof, and of the District of Columbia, and all persons designated or appointed under registration prescribed by the president, whether such appointments are made by the president himself or by the governor or other officer of any state or territory to perform any duty in the execution of this act, are hereby required to perform such duty as the president shall order or direct, and all such officers and agents and persons so designated or appointed shall hereby have full authority for all acts done by them in the execution of this act by the direction of the president.

Correspondence in the execution of this act may be carried in penalty envelopes bearing the frank of the war department. Any persons charged as herein provided with the duty of carrying into effect any of the provisions of the act or the regulations made or directions given thereunder who shall fail or neglect to perform such duty, and any person charged with such duty, or having and exercising any authority under said act, regulations or directions, who shall knowingly make or be a party to the making of any false or incorrect registration, physical examination, exemption, enlistment, enrollment, or muster; and any person who shall make or be a party to the making of any false statement or certificate as to the fitness or liability of himself or any other person for service under the provisions of this act, or regulations made by the president thereunder, or otherwise evades or aids another to evade the requirements of this act, or of said regulations, or who, in any manner, shall fail or neglect fully to perform any duty required of him in the execution of this act, shall, if not subject to military law, be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction in the district court of the United States having jurisdiction thereof, be punished by imprisonment for not more than one year; or, if subject to military law, shall be tried by court martial and suffer such punishment as a court-martial may direct.

Now, therefore, I, Woodrow Wilson, president of the United States, do call upon the governor of each of the several states and territories, the board of commissioners of the District of Columbia and all officers and agents of the several states and territories, of the District of Columbia, and of the counties and municipalities therein, to perform certain duties in the execution of the foregoing law, which duties will be communicated to them directly in regulations of even date herewith.

June 5 To Be Registration Day.

And I do further proclaim and give notice to all persons subject to registration in the several states and in the District of Columbia in accordance with the above law, that the time and place of such registration shall be between 7 a. m. and 9 p. m. on the 5th day of June, 1917, at the registration places in the precinct wherein they have their permanent homes. Those who shall have attained their twenty-first birthday, and who shall not have attained their thirty-first birthday on or before the day here named, are required to register, excepting only officers and enlisted men of the regular army, the navy, the marine corps, and the national guard, and naval militia while in the service of the United States, and officers in the officers' reserve corps and enlisted men in the enlisted reserve corps while in active service in the territories of Alaska, Hawaii and Porto Rico a day for registration will be named in a later proclamation.

And I do charge those who through sickness shall be unable to present themselves for registration, that they apply on or before the day of registration to the county clerk where they may be for instructions as to how they may be registered by agents. Those who expect to be absent on the day named from the counties in which they have their permanent homes, may register by mail, but their mailed registration cards must reach the place in which they have their permanent homes by the day named herein. They should apply as soon as practicable to the county clerk of the county wherein they may be for instructions as to how they may accomplish their registration by mail.

In case such persons as, through sickness, or absence, may be unable to present themselves personally for registration shall be sojourning in cities of over 30,000 population, they shall apply to the city clerk of the city wherein they may be sojourning rather than to the clerk of the county. The clerks of counties and of cities of over 30,000 population, in which numerous applications from the sick and from nonresidents are expected, are authorized to establish such subagencies and to employ and deputize such clerical force as may be necessary to accommodate these applications.

The power against which we are arrayed has sought to impose its will upon the world by force. To this end it has increased armament until it has changed the face of war. In the sense in which we have been wont to think of armies there are no armies in this struggle. There are entire nations armed. Thus the men who remain to till the soil and man the factories are no less a part of the army that is in France than the men beneath the battle flags. It must be so with us. It is not an army that we must shape and train for war; it is a nation.

To this end our people must draw close in one compact front against a common foe. But this cannot be if each man pursues a private purpose. All must pursue one purpose. The nation needs all men, but it needs each man not in the field that will most please him, but in the endeavor that will best serve the common good. Thus, though a sharpshooter pleases to operate a trip hammer for the forging of great guns, and an expert machinist desires to march with the flag, the nation is being served only when the sharpshooter marches and the machinist remains at his levers. The whole nation must be a team in which each man shall play the part for which he is best fitted. To this end Congress has provided that the nation shall be organized for war by selection, and that each man shall be classified for service in the place to which it shall best serve the general good to call him.

The significance of this cannot be overstated. It is a new thing in our history and a landmark in our progress. It is a new manner of accepting and vitalizing our duty to give ourselves with thoughtful devotion to the common purpose of us all. It is in no sense a conscription of the unwilling; it is rather, selection from a nation which has volunteered in mass it is no more a choosing of those who shall march with the colors than it is a selection of those who shall serve an equally necessary and devoted purpose in the industries that lie behind the battle line.

The day here named is the time upon which all shall present themselves for assignment to their tasks. It is for that reason, destined to be remembered as one of the most conspicuous moments in our history. It is nothing less than the day upon which the manhood of the country shall step forward in one solid rank in defense of the ideals to which this nation is consecrated. It is important to those ideals no less than to the pride of this generation in manifesting its devotion to them that there be no gaps in the ranks.

It is essential that the day be approached in thoughtful apprehension of its significance and that we accord to it the honor and the meaning that it deserves. Our industrial need prescribes that it be not made a technical holiday, but the stern sacrifice that is before us urges that it be carried in all our hearts as a great day of patriotic devotion and obligation, when the duty shall lie upon every man, whether he is himself to be registered or not to see to it that the name of every male person of the designated age is written on these lists of honor.

In witness whereof I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed.

Done at the city of Washington, this 18th day of May, in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and seventeen, and of the independence of the United States of America the one hundred and forty-first.

BY THE PRESIDENT.

ROBERT LANSING, Secretary of State.

Coney Mentioned in the Bible.

There are several allusions in the Bible to the coney. The thirtieth chapter, twenty-sixth verse of Proverbs says "the coneys are but a feeble folk, yet they make their house in the rocks." Coneys are yet found on the Lebanon and in the Jordan and Dead Sea valleys. The coney is about the size of the domestic cat, has long hair, a short tail, round ears and chews the cud.

Speeding Up.

The race soon adjusts itself to new conditions as they arise and we don't suppose the young mothers of the present day are one jot or tittle more worried when their children are out playing in the street than their own mothers were in like circumstances, with the horses and buggies recklessly dashing past all the time at seven or eight miles an hour.—Ohio State Journal.

Western Kentucky Summer Normal (colored) began its third term Monday morning, May 28, at Attucks high school. Many teachers have enrolled. DECORATION DAY OBSERVED

Graves of Soldiers of Both Sides Decorated By Union
Veterans.

Yesterday morning at 9 o'clock the old Federal soldiers and a large crowd of friends gathered at the court house and marched in a body to the cemetery to pay tribute to the memory of those who fought and died in the war between the States. There was quite a number who could not attend, but these sent flowers and other tokens of esteem. The committee which arranged the program was composed of Messrs. Mc J. Davis, Joe Turner, C. A. Brasher and Gus Breathitt.

The graves of both the Confederate and the Union soldiers were decorated. Songs were sung and a short prayer service was held.

LETTER FROM UNCLE SAM.

Uncle Sam has come to Hopkinsville. He met our representative yesterday and after some conversation asked us to publish the following letter:

To every young man in Hopkinsville and Christian county between 18 and 35 years of age, who has no one dependent upon him for support, GREETING:

Standing on the street corner talking about how big your country is never won a war. We are at war now, and I need men, need them urgently; so urgently, indeed, that I have stationed men in every town and hamlet throughout the country calling for volunteers. Roughly speaking Christian county will have to loan me two hundred men out of this present draft to fight Germany, BUT IN ADDITION TO THIS NUMBER, every Company in the National Guard and the Regular Army must be filled out to its full war strength of ONE HUNDRED and FIFTY men.

Whether you shall enlist or not is a matter for your own individual conscience. However, that may be, you have no excuse upon the ground that I do not need you.

We are at war. We did not want war, but war has come and we can do no more than play the part destiny has thrust upon us. THE PITY OF IT ALL is that this age has become so decadent that parents feel no sense of shame in urging their sons to stay at home. The youth of the nation seems to have lost the fire and vigor and red blooded courage, which in their fathers, made possible the freedom they now enjoy.

The word slacker is not a nice word, but it is an expressive one. Are you a slacker? Are you going to stay at home with the old men and women and children and let some one else do your fighting for you? Don't do that. Enlist now while you can do it HONORABLY, as befits an American citizen. Don't let it be said of you that you stayed at home until you were FORCED to do your duty.

If this letter appeals to you, call at the Armory without delay, and let my representative, Lieut. Alvan Clark, enlist you either for the National Guard or the Regular Army.

Yours very truly,
UNCLE SAM.

STRICKEN WITH APPENDICITIS

Oglesby Soyars Comes Home
From Training Camp For An Operation.

Oglesby Soyars returned from Fort Benjamin Harrison, Ind., Monday suffering from an acute attack of appendicitis. He had been in a hospital there for several days and had improved to an extent that he was discharged Sunday. That night, however, the disease became acute and he started at once for home, arriving Monday morning. The same evening he was taken to the Jennie Stuart Memorial Hospital and operated upon. The operation was successful and his condition was satisfactory yesterday. He will probably be prevented from taking further training until the next class is formed in August.

Mr. Soyars is one of Hopkinsville's brainiest young men and is a successful young lawyer. His ancestors for four generations have been warriors and he was one of the first to apply for admission to the training camp. His captain told him when he left to go home and get well and return to duty as he was the type of young men that the country needs.

Russia In Bad Way.

The industrial crisis in Russia is reported to be so acute that according to recent utterances of the Minister of Finance, only a miracle can save the country from economical ruin, so great are the demands of the workmen. The Socialists urge an early peace as the only remedy.
